

California State University, Chico

Master in Business Administration (MBA)

"At Chico State we have smaller class sizes, and you have more time to talk with your professors and discuss questions. I also appreciate the kindness of the many people who have made me feel welcome, including many off-campus residents of Chico."

Anli Chen, MBA Graduate

Great Program, Exceptional Value

An Outstanding Reputation

Established in 1887, California State University, Chico (known as Chico State) is one of 23 accredited institutions known as The California State University system. This system is recognized and respected throughout the world. The College of Business has been AACSB accredited since 1972.

Chico State is one of the few AACSB accredited MBA programs in the country where students can get specialized project management or management information systems skills and knowledge. The College of Business is regularly recognized by the Princeton Review and EDUNIVERSAL for its strong national reputation.

Desirable Options

At California State University, Chico you can earn a general MBA, or specialize in EIS (enterprise information systems) or project management.

The Chico State College of Business is a recognized leader in enterprise information systems (EIS). The EIS emphasis is designed to meet the growing job demands for professional consultants, business process analysts, IT infrastructure specialists, and SAP functional analysts.

The EIS emphasis curriculum is a pathway toward SAP TERP 10 certification – a valuable addition to your resume.

Students leave the project management option with a strong grasp of business and the importance of keeping projects on time and under budget – something all businesses value. Students who complete an appropriate series of courses within this emphasis are prepared to sit for the Project Management Institute's (PMI) CAPM or PMP certification exam.

Small Class Sizes
